Sharing Information Simplifying Transportation

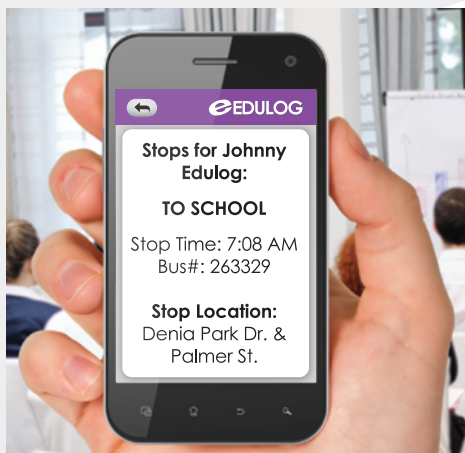

What if...

Teachers and principals could easily view student transportation information?

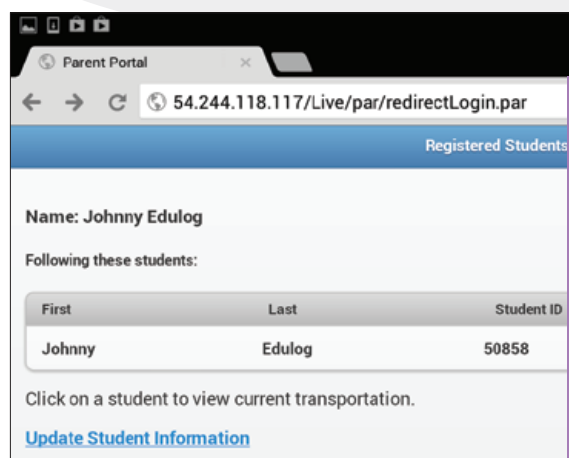

What if...

Parents could see exactly when their child arrives at school?

What if...

Parents had instant access to changes in their child's bus schedule anytime?

"It pulls information from the Transportation Information Management System that we already use to develop school bus routes, so we did not have to create new files or maps to bring the system online."

Jeff Lyons,
Transportation Director,

Instant Answers

Making sure students get to school is a full-time job, which is why EDULOG's web solutions are built to help you securely share the right answers with the right people when they need it: instantly.

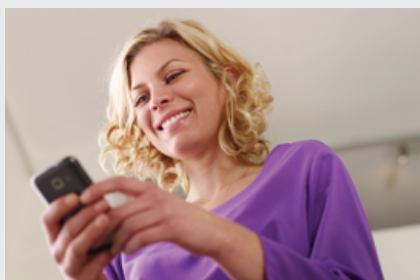

Hear That Sound? It's Your Phone Not Ringing

EDULOG's WebQuery allows parents to look up answers about their child's transportation online and staff to look up student stop information by address. Plus, it pulls all the information right from your planning database so you know it's accurate.

More Than Just Pulling Out All the Stops

EDULOG's WebSchool Assistant does more than just tell you where bus stops are: it gives district staff, teachers, and administrators access to information on student eligibility, runs, routes, times, and more.

Put Student Reminders at Parent's Fingertips

By integrating with your GPS and Student Tracking systems, ParentPortal allows parents to see when their child boards and exits the bus, and even lets your staff send notification about late buses or route changes directly to their phones.

Why Settle for an Incomplete Solution?

EDULOG web solutions integrate with your routing and planning software, GPS, and Student Tracking solutions to help you securely and easily share important transportation information.
